MORE ABOUT ALEKSANDER

Aleksander resides in Siekierki Wielkie, a small village near Poznan, Poland. He spends his free time running, biking, and having fun with his family. He came to work for Kimball Electronics because he was looking for a place where he could challenge himself and work with fantastic people around the world.

Aleksander mentioned that it was difficult narrow down to just one favorite memory with the company but he most enjoys the moments when his team works with new customers. He explained the first project with a new customer, after many months of hard work, while creating the first product is a fantastic moment every time.

Aleksander works remotely for Kimball Electronics and stated that his favorite office tradition is when the Business Development Team meets virtually from time to time to have lunch together and chat about everything but work.
