MORE ABOUT SCOTT

Scott resides in Franklin, Indiana where he spends his free time watching Formula 1 and NFL football, grilling, reading U.S. political history and bingeing Netflix with his wife.

Scott explained, Kimball Electronics is a business he sees with major growth potential in the future. The management staff he works with is always ready and willing to help if they need it and that kind of attitude makes it easy to come into work every day." Additionally, he also mentioned that the fact that he has been able to work his way up to a corporate setting despite the fact that his education background is in an unrelated field is a professional achievement he is most proud of during his time at Kimball Electronics.
